Council Votes To Secure Site Of Old Airport

Discussion of Project Brings Disclosures Of New Industries

Plans for immediate development of Redwood City's new recreation center on Bayshore Hwy. at Chestnut St. were being formulated in the minds of city recreation commissioners today following decision of the city council Monday to acquire the site on lease at once, with an option to buy which, it was expected, would be exercised next year.

At a session at which the only protest lodged stirred a discussion of whether the site should be bought for industry or recreation, the council voted unanimously to secure the 20-acre, one-time airport for the sports center after hearing from several sources that there definitely appeared to be at least one new industry coming to Redwood City.

The new industry, understood to be a tray washing machine manufactory expected to employ between 75 and 100 people, is considering purchase of two acres adjacent to the recreation center at the end of the Broadway extension, Daniel Stafford told the crowded council chambers.

ANOTHER INQUIRY

In addition, Charles Holt, real estate broker, reported that only yesterday afternoon another party interested in securing four acres for a factory to employ 150 men had inquired of him about sites.

The 22 acres needed for the recreation center and the one industry will be purchased by a group of five citizens and the First National Bank, it was reported by Wayne R. Millington, chairman of the recreation commission. The group in turn will sell the two acres to the industry if it desires it and will give a lease to the city on the other 20 "at a reasonable rate comparable to interest—about $400 a year."

As the 20 acres are bought a parcel at a time by the city in future years, the rental rate naturally would be decreased, Millington said, explaining that the group purchasing it was doing it only so that the O'Dea Estate, owner of the land, could secure its money at once. Price of the land, available only at this figure for recreational purposes, is $500 an acre, Millington said. All agreed that this was reasonable inasmuch as property across the street is held at $2000 or more an acre. The late Michael O'Dea of Los Angeles owned the property, but his estate now is in litigation with several hundred "relatives" claiming it.

'UNANIMOUS CHOICE'

Millington said that the site was the "unanimous choice" of the nine members of the recreation commission and was "the most desirable and most accessible piece of property in the city." He assured the council that private means of financing development "except for minor matters" will be found.

The city's first rental payment and purchase moneys will not be put into the budget until next fiscal year, it was agreed by the council, which unanimously decided to buy the property on motion of Councilman Evans A. Fletcher, second of Robert N. Jones.

Only opposition voiced was that voiced by Annie Offermann, 1018 Main St., who argued that the council should spend any money it has to acquire industrial sites to give to factories in order to secure more payrolls here. She declared that "merchants haven't made their salt" this past year but she was quickly challenged on this statement by Holt and others who declared that business here was on the increase.

Her demands that the city do something to bring in payrolls met the answer from Councilman Paul A. McCarthy that that was being done by the Board of Port Commissioners, by San Francisco Peninsula Inc., by the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce and by other organizations with the result being that there was definite evidence of early location here of new factories.

ACCUSATIONS REFUTED

It was then that Holt and Stafford disclosed the industrial possibilities which both said they had not intended to bring up at the council meeting but could not help but tell about to refute the pessimistic picture of the city's status painted by Miss Offermann, herself a life-long resident here and property owner who declared her fervent wish for the city to progress but desired first to have more industries.

Desirability of recreation facilities to bring in more commuter residents was stressed also by Councilman McCarthy, who pointed out that a commuter annually spends in the community several thousand dollars earned outside the city. Miss Offermann's statement that tax delinquencies were greater was contradicted also by McCarthy, who pointed to the fact that defaults in payments were decreasing annually and now were the lowest they had been since 1931.

When several other persons in the audience, including Pres. W. M. Werder of the Lions Club, original sponsors, and an unidentified spokesman for the Communist party of Redwood City voiced approval of the recreation center acquisition, the measure passed quickly and City Atty. Albert Mansfield was directed to prepare the necessary legal forms.

PHYSICAL TESTS FOR APPLICANTS TO WED SLATED

Planning on getting married?

Then get married before Sept. 19 or comply with the new California health examination law, Dr. Charles C. Gans, county health director, warned.

Every man and woman who steps up to the county clerk's office for a marriage license must submit a certificate issued not longer than 30 days before.

Dr. Gans explained how the law will work:

1. The applicant for a marriage license consults a physician for an examination and blood test. The physician sends a specimen of the blood to a laboratory.

2. the laboratory makes a confidenial report of the result of the test to the physician and to the California State Department of Public Health and transmits to the physician the certificate form.

3. The physician completes the certificate form and gives it to the applicant.

4. The applicant gives the certificate form to the county clerk, who then issues the marriage license.

Applicants may be examined by their family physician, by doctors working in the free clinics, by the medical staff of state and local hospitals, or through arrangements with the health department.

The examination will include a blood test. The doctor making the examination may send the specimen to an approved private laboratory, to the free public health laboratory or to the free state laboratory. The examination may be made before or after application is made for a marriage license, but before the license is issued.

Results of blood tests will be confidential, Dr. Gans pointed out.

Board To Learn If Coast Road Funds Needed

Social Welfare Levies Greatly Increased Over Last Year

Possibility of a county tax rate increase of nearly 14 cents was seen today in a study of tentative figures before the board of supervisors. Yet to be determined was whether or not an item of $38,000 should be included to pay the county's 1940-41 share of Coast highway construction.

Supervisor Fred E. Beer secured a delay in adoption of the budget Tuesday afternoon until Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch, representative on the Coast highway board, could be consulted. Hatch is on vacation in San Diego.

Meanwhile Treasurer A. H. Sagehorn warned the board that the county had money enough to operate only one month more without issuing tax anticipation warrants. Such warrants, he explained, cannot be issued before the tax rate is fixed.

Department Manager Named for R.C. Store

Francis M. Brown, who resides at 134 King St. with Mrs. Brown and their twin sons, Tom and Jerry, 6, has been named manager of the furniture department of Engdahl's, 2396 Broadway, Redwood City. Mission Trails Senorita

Time moves back 175 years for visitors to the courtly Mission Trails building, one of the California Commission group at the Golden Gate International Exposition.

This beautiful building gives visitors a perfect impression of the early Spanish-California days when the peaceful Missions were the only stopping points along the coast to Mexico.

Plans Pondered For Development Of Sports Center

Elated over the city council's action Monday night authorizing purchase of the O'Dea Estate property at Broadway and Chestnut St. as a recreation center site, members of the recreation commission Tuesday night in regular meeting began consideration of plans for developing the area.

Director Alfred Morton and Parks Supt. Roger Walsh were directed to prepare for the next meeting a map of the plot and their suggestions for improvements. Members of the commission have been working on plans for raising money to finance improvements, and have under consideration several schemes, as have service clubs, it was reported.

Morton was given permission to schedule the new recreation headquarters in the former library building, 2101 Broadway, as a meeting place for organizations concerned with recreation on certain nights. He said that several groups have requested use of the building.

He also revealed that in the near future ping-pong tables and other games will be installed in the building, and they will be open for use on certain nights, with a supervisor in charge.

A new plan for financing the Summer softball league was presented by Morton, and was authorized pending possible change before next year. Details of the plan, which would reduce the entry fee for teams, will be revealed next Spring, Morton said.

Cooking, Canning School Slated Here

Montgomery Ward & Co.'s Redwood City store is extending invitations to the general public to atend a "real cooking and canning school" to be held at 2 p.m. daily from Aug. 15 to 18, inclusive.

The store has planned many surprises and prizes for those attending. Mr. Elmore, factory representative, will personally conduct the Pressure Cooker and canning school, featuring Ward's new Magic-Seal cooker.

USPHS Head Fails To Urge Gans' Removal

Public Meeting Devoid Of Sensations; Wide Interest Shown

An overflow meeting of representative San Mateo County citizens at Burlingame City Hall Tuesday demonstrated public interest in the county's public health services, but that apparently was the most significant development to come out of the discussion of the United States Public Health Service survey by Dr. Fred T. Foard, federal public health surgeon.

In effect, the meeting failed to alter the situation regarding the public health department and its director, and referred back to county officials the task of making a decision.

Expected fireworks failed to develop, and advocates of a new deal in the county health department expressed frank disappointment over the outcome. Major reasons:

1. Dr. Foard declined to state in so many words whether he thought Dr. Charles C. Gans, county director of health and welfare, should continue in office.

2. Dr. Francis A. Carmelia, medical officer in charge of the survey, failed to appear as scheduled.

Dr. A. E. O'Neill, chairman of the meeting and chairman of the county board of health and welfare, insisted that personalities be omitted from the discussion, and pointed questions about the incumbant director's qualifications were parried by Dr. Foard.

Dr. Foard explained that Dr. Carmelia had been detained by his duties in connection with a survey of health facilities in Los Angeles County.

'Sister Ships' Meet In Redwood City Port

An unusual occurence was witnessed by a fortunate few at the Port of Redwood City late Monday when the West Planter, huge freighter of the McCormick Steamship Co., and its sister ship, the West Shipper, passed side by side. The West Shipper had just tied up at the Pacific Portland Cement Co.'s docks for a load of cement when the West Planter, which had been at the harbor since Saturday, steamed out of port. The 251-foot ships were built 20 years ago.

Two Peninsula Tracks Sued On Payoff Plan

Col. William H. Neblett, ex-partner of former Sen. William Gibbs McAdoo, Monday carried to San Mateo County his campaign to force race tracks to disgorge what he claims to be illegally withheld "breakage."

In two suits filed in superior court at Redwood City, Neblett and E. Walter Guthrie, as attorneys for Clarence Birney, Los Angeles taxpayer, ask that Tanforan and Bay Meadows each be forced to pay $300,000 to the state.

The contention is that each track has divided pari-mutuel pools to the next lowest multiple of 20 instead of 10 when redistributing the pool to the contributors. (Thus a bettor entitled to $2.71 would receive $2.60, the track keeping 11 cents instead of one).

Similar actions have been filed against tracks in Los Angeles and San Diego Counties.

The complaint alleges that each track has been misappropriating breakage since it opened, and that the practice has been "countenanced or winked at" by the state racing board, and the administrative officers of the state, particularly those charged with the administration of the act.

The section of the racing law on breakage has not been construed by the courts, and the question as to whom this money belongs has not been determined, the complaint states, except that the defendants and those in the horse racing business are not entitled to it.

Birney asks for a judgment that the money belongs to the state, that the defendants make an accounting of the breakage, judgment for $300,000 or for such sums as accounting may show has been wrongfully withheld, and for costs of suit.

Tanforan Co. Ltd. has been operating Tanforan race track at San Bruno since Nov. 1, 1933, and has violated the breakage law ever since that date, Birney charges. California Jockey Club Inc., operators of Bay Meadows at San Mateo, has been operating since Nov. 3, 1934, and has likewise violated the law since that time, he states.

Confession Of Mistake Made

Frankly admitting that it was an error to have proposed an outlet for the Junipero Serra Blvd. extension at the north end of Burlingame, directors of Joint Highway District 10 in an announcement Tuesday disclosed that a study will be begun at once to find a new outlet north of Burlingame and south of Millbrae, possibly Millbrae Ave., as a feeder-outlet into El Camino Real. The original plans met widespread protest.

Holding to their premise that Junipero Serra Blvd. "is a vital necessity for the future growth and progress of San Mateo County," the directors at their meeting last week named Supervisor Alfred Roncovieri and Engineers M. A. Grant, John J. Casey and M. D. Johnson "to take immediate steps for a new study with the objective of finding a new outlet. . . ."

Supervisor Roncovieri suggested that San Mateo County also make its own study and also consider where the road might run south of Burlingame to the Santa Clara County line. Financial help might be obtained from large property owners, it was suggested by Andrew J. Gallagher, board president, when Supervisor John A. Lynch of San Mateo County suggested that the county might not have funds to make such a survey.

The directors named Supervisor Lynch as a committee of one to approach Division Highway Engineer J. H. Skeggs to secure authority to remove yellow marker stakes recently erected by state engineers to mark the future boundaries of the highway.

William Sellers, 45, Brisbane cabinet shop owner, was arrested on a San Francisco complaint Saturday by Dep. Sheriff Adolph Waldeck. The complaint charged Sellers issued three bogus checks for a total of $15. Sellers denied the charge.

MENLO PARK NEWS NOTES

TO SELECT P. O. SITE

MENLO PARK, Aug. 11—A special agent of the United States Post Office Department is to be in Menlo Park next week to select a site for a new building for which an appropriation of $75,000 has been made. The government usually follows the trend of population for its federal building, and in that case the site will be located somewhere on Santa Cruz Ave. The Menlo Park Hotel property has been suggested as an ideal site as there would be ample parking space. Its proximity to the depot would be another reason for this location. The government has its own ideas and the building will go where the agent suggests.

The Safeway store will move into its new quarters on Santa Cruz Ave. on the 17th. Elaborate fixtures were installed during the week to provide for the extra stock to be put in. The space between the building on Doyle St. is to be utilized for parking.

The city council at a recent meeting provided for the appointment of another officer of the police department. The new appointee will be Gene Allbee, who was a former temporary officer on the force

Joseph L. McCarthy of Menlo Park and Miss Constance Grennan of Los Altos will be united in marriage on Sept. 16. The prospective bride is very pretty and talented, and a product of the Dominican Convent of San Rafael. Mr. McCarthy is engaged in the grocery business with his father. He is popular and has many friends on the Peninsula. He is an alumnus of Santa Clara University.

Mrs. J. Egleson and her son, Dr. Egleson of Chicago, were here visiting friends Sunday. Mrs. Egleson was a sister-in-law of the late Michael Lynch, who passed away in Chicago some time ago. Mr. Lynch was engaged in the nursery business previous to his death. He is survived by his widow.

Mr and Mrs. P. Dermody of Reno, Nev., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lynch. Mr. Dermody is a state official of Nevada. He is a former San Franciscan, having gone to the Silver State after the earthquake.

Frank Gainer brought the first deer of the season to town Sunday, having killed it in Monterey County. It is needless to say that Mr. Gainer's friends have been enjoying venison steak for several days.

Plans and specifications for the Mother Foley Gymnasium have been received from the architect, and they will be submitted to contractors for bids at once. It is the aim of the promoters to have work commence on the structure by Sept. 1. It is believed the gymnasium will be ready in 60 days.

The work of tearing down the old O'Keefe building on the highway will start next week to make way for the highway. They contemplate erecting a new building in the rear of the old site

Miss Pauline Smith, a prominent young lady from Seattle, visited Miss Carmel O'Keefe last week. Both attended Sacred Heart Academy a few years ago and warm friendship exists between them. Miss O'Keefe contemplates visiting Seattle this Fall.

Pigeons' Fate Rests in Hands Of City Board

If any of Redwood City's homing pigeons appeared a bit jittery this week when they took their regular forenoon exercise, there was a reason.

Fate of the 1500 birds hung somewhat in the balance today as a result of a "trial" Monday before the city council.

Conducted with a precision that would have done any court proud, a hearing into charges that the birds constituted a menace to residents ended after nearly an hour of pro and con arguments with the council taking the case under submission, much as a judge might have done.

DECISION EVIDENT

Difference appeared to be that a judge doesn't usually indicate what his decision will be, and newspapers don't usually predict the outcome of a court trial, under pain of contempt of court penalty. But at the close of the pigeon trial before the council, that body appeared satisfied that the advantages to keeping pigeons even in the frist class residential district outweighed the alleged damages done to persons and property of non-pigeon owners, and it seemed safe to predict that the homing birds would continue to fly back to Redwood City from the distant starting points they used in their cross-country competitive flights.

Carried over from a previous meeting, the discussion of the pigeon subject was precipitated by a letter of protest from Max Lichtenstein, 180 Hudson St., that neighbors' pigeons littered up his yard and made bothersome noises, and by a petition of 35 citizens presented by A. H. Morgan Jr., 314 Grand St., asking that the council pass an ordinance prohibiting the keeping of pigeons, chickens, cows, goats and other live stock in the first class residential district.

OTHERS SPEAK

In addition, several persons spoke on the subject.

Taking charge of the pigeons' defense in the absence from "court" of the birds, who, it was presumed, were sleeping, blissfully unaware of their impending fate, was Al Bullivant, deputy county tax collector and secretary of the Redwood City Homing Club.

In businesslike manner, though with considerable emotion that indicated he was well sold on his sport (Councilman William Hohn later insisted that it looked like a "business" to him instead of a sport), Bullivant brought a number of citizens and pigeon fanciers before the council to testify that homing pigeons didn't land on other people's houses; only flew around morning and evening during exercise periods; weren't particularly noisy, in fact, as he put it himself, "a cricket makes more noise than a homing pigeon." Some of those aiding Bullivant in upholding the dignity of the pigeon said that their neighbors' actually enjoyed having the pigeons about.

PETITIONS PRESENTED

"Testifying" were Atty. Robert Littler, who said he had lived for 5½ years adjacent to L. E. Doolittle, pigeon breeder; C. Dempsey; Don Stewart; Bud Moore; Bob Wilkins; Frank Coelho and Victor Doppee. Doppee is president of the homing pigeon club; others, except Littler, are members and pigeon owners. Most of the breeders brought petitions which they said were signed by most of their neighbors asserting that they had no desire to see the pigeons abated.

After testimony was presented, rather acrid debate took place between the pro-pigeonites and the "antis," with their value in times of war or emergency being questioned at one time by one of the opponents to the birds.

"They are a dead issue; planes can beat them," he said, pointing out that an airplane can fly here from Reno in an hour while it takes a pigeon three hours.

"Maybe so," challenged Bullivant, "but the day we flew from Reno this year, it was stormy and the planes didn't make it. The birds did."

Councilman Paul A. McCarthy suggested that it might be feasible to restrict certain areas of the city from livestock including pigeons, expressing himself as against enacting an ordinance for the entire city. Councilmen Harold F. Anderson and Robert Jones agreed; Councilman Hohn appeared slightly antagonistic to the birds; other councilmen were non-committal, but agreed with a suggestion made by Morgan when he apparently sensed that a victory could not be won, that the matter be pondered for a few weeks before definite action is taken.

Legionnaires Given Refunds for Jubilesta

San Mateo County Legionnaires who posted funds to make up a deficit resulting from the Jubilesta of last year received cash refunds last week at the Belle Haven meeting of the 26th District, American Legion.

Philip A. Baker of San Mateo, new district commander who will be installed this week at the Oakland Legion convention, received a citation of merit for his work as membership chairman. His efforts during the past year swelled the district rolls to 1200 members.

The Legionnaires voted to send a telegram to Rep. John Z. Anderson of this district urging him to continue his fight for establishment of a research bureau at Moffett Field air base, near Mountain View.

Public Relationship Course Is Planned

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Aug. 9—A short course in public relations—the process of learning what the public wants and thinks and securing their approval of certain processes and then maintaining that approval, according to Dr. Frank Munk of Paris—will be offered at Stanford University beginning next Monday.

Conducting the course are Harwood L. Childs, editor of the "Public Opinion Quarterly"; Don D. Lescohier, professor of economics, University of Wisconsin, and noted industrial authority; Harford Powell, famous public relations counsel of New York City, and Edward L. Bernays, recently named by Time Magazine as America's No. 1 publicist.

The sponsoring institute is a non-profit organization co-operating with educational institutions in making available to business executives the latest information and methods in the fields of public, industrial, employee and consumer relations.

Charles W. Collier is registrar for the short course, with headquarters at 202 Mills Building, San Francisco.

State's School Funds Boosted

With state funds apportioned to the counties for the support of public schools increased by more than $2,000,000 for the 1939-40 term, San Mateo County schools will receive a total of $1,149,490, it was announced in Sacramento Monday by Walter F. Dexter, director of the department of education.

Of the local total, $593,713.94 will go to elementary schools; $455,676.06 to high school; $100,100 to the San Mateo Junior College.

The increase in the state's apportionment is due to a gain in the average daily attendance in high schools and junior colleges. Attendance in elementary grades decreased .4 per cent.

Santa Clara County receives $2,054,685.66—$1,069,854.22 for elementary schools; $882,931.44 for high schools; $101,900 for junior college.

Flags Given City Council

In the Redwood City City Council's natty chambers in the new city hall stood two new slik flags today, the gifts of Redwood Parlor 66, Native Sons of the Golden West.

With an informative and impressive talk delivered by Roy W Cloud of Redwood City, former grand historian of the NSGW, state history authority and executive secretary of the California Teachers Asscoiation, the Bear Flag of California and the United States Flag were presented to the city council at the close of the council's 4-hour session last night.

Tracing history of flags in California, Cloud told of the early Spanish flags and of other banners that had waved over the state until June 14, 1846, when the Bear flag was adopted. Although replaced the following July 7 by the American flag, the "grandest of all the flags," the Bear flag on Feb. 3, 1911, again became the state flag of California and at the last session of the legislature it was directed flown over every state building daily except Sundays, Cloud said.

So that the city hall may have a Bear flag in it, the Native Sons had purchased this one "representing the hopes and aspirations of this state of ours for many years to come," Cloud said.

He took brief occasion also to praise the council, declaring that there "never has been a board that has worked more zealously for this community than has this council."

A salute by the assembled crowd which filled the chambers capped the ceremony.

Mayors Map Fight On $30 Pension Plan

SAN MATEO, Aug. 10—A three-point program of opposition to the proposed "$30 Every Thursday" pension plan on which Californians will vote Nov. 7 was mapped last night by a committee of mayors of Peninsula Division, League of California Municipalities.

The group of about 15 men including Earl P. Wilsey, Hillsborough city manager; Irving Wright of the California Chamber of Commerce, and Winfield Scott of the Civic League, met in San Mateo City Hall.

The program approved calls for:

1. Members of the committee to urge all voters to register and to vote.

2. The committee to obtain all available information on the "Ham and Eggs" proposal and its possible effect, and to disseminate the information.

3. Each mayor to appoint a local committee to conduct the drive for defeat of the initiative measure.

The group of mayors probably will meet later, Wilsey said, to discuss work of the local committees and outline further strategy.

COUNTY'S CARE OF NEEDY IS DESCRIBED AS GENEROUS

Far from being niggardly in its care of unfortunates, as might have been implied in recent discussions of health and welfare services, San Mateo County is actually very generous in this respect, spending more than half its total budget for benevolences.

This was pointed out here by Matthew A. Harris, president of the Civic League of San Mateo County; director of the California Taxpayers Association and an observer and student of governmental affairs, as he emphasized the fact that adverse publicity is being given the county through continued discussion of what was lacking, rather than what was being offered, here.

In addition, the health of people in San Mateo County is "generally good," he declared, and the record here would compare favorably with that of other counties, in his opinion.

"In breaking down the proposed budget figures, we find that about $1,100,000 is being spent for benevolent purposes—about 55 to 57 per cent of the total budget," Harris declared, explaining that his compilation included that part of the salary budget devoted to health and welfare phases of the county government. Exact figures are being compiled by the league. He pointed out that the bulk of this went to care for about 2500 people on relief, WPA clients, recipients of orphan and old age benefits etc.

"Our county actually has done a good job; it has taken care of our people intelligently and well," Harris declared. "The general health of our county is comparable to and probably better than that in many other California counties."

Man Hit by Train Is Branded Suicide

SAN BRUNO, Aug. 10—In what coroners' deputies described as a suicide, Frank Kaiser, 72-year-old retired San Francisco janitor, was killed by a Southern Pacific locomotive at the San Mateo Ave. crossing here yesterday.

Mr. Kaiser reportedly told acquaintances yesterday that he planned to kill himself.

According to reports to the coroner's office, Mr. Kaiser went to the depot yesterday afternoon and sat there for "a long time."

Then, about 5:35 p.m., as a commuter train approached, he jumped up and hurled himself in front of the locomotive, Coroner William F. Crosby was informed.

Mr. Kaiser, a resident of San Bruno for a number of years, lived alone on Fifth Ave. His body was taken to the Nauman and Muzio Mortuary in South San Francisco pending location of relatives.

Adolph Spreckels Is Wed to Heiress

Adolph B. Spreckels of Coronado, 27-year-old heir to the California sugar fortune and relative of the San Mateo County Spreckels family, and Baroness Emily von Romberg, 27, Santa Barbara widow, were married at a Reno hotel early today and left by chartered airplane for Santa Barbara.

Justice of the Peace Harry Dunseath performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by B. A. Boston, New York City attorney, and Mrs. Barbara Boston, society editor for the New York Daily News. John B. Foy, Reno attorney, also was present.

Spreckels was divorced last year. The new Mrs. Spreckels is the former Emily P. Hall, of Portland, Ore., and heiress in her own right. Her first husband, Baron Maximilian Hugo Converse von Romberg, of Santa Barbara, was killed last June when his airplane crashed near Rumson, N. J.

Preliminary hearing of bookmaking charges against Joe Fischer, 40, and Fred Welte, 28, arrested by Sheriff James J. McGrath July 13, was continued one week yesterday by Judge Gus B. Risso. Fischer and Welte were arrested in a raid on "The Bowl," Millbrae.

Meeting Set In Near Future

An attempt to "sell" the Port of Redwood City to Santa Clara Valley shippers and growers will be made soon when the board of port commissioners sponsors a dinner meeting at the St. Claire Hotel which some 50 ment who might be interested in using facilities of the port will be invited to attend.

Plans for the session were made by the commissioners Tuesday night at their regular meeting. Date is yet to be set.

Commissioner Edmund Scott, former San Mateo County district attorney, will address the gathering on behalf of the port board, describing the facilities available at Redwood City for the shipping of fresh or canned fruit and other cargoes. Port Manager Walker F. Murphy will supplement Scott's remarks.

Frank Mitchell of San Jose, district manager for the Bank of America, will be invited to respond.

At last night's session of the port board, numerous matters of importance to the harbor were considered, including the possibility of leasing the newly-completed warehouse. Negotiations are being carried on with a San Jose firm for use of the 100x300-foot structure.

Lumber shipments to the port continue regularly, Port Manager Murphy said, with the Barbara C, a regular visitor, expected to dock here tonight.

City Buildings Boost Total

Although Redwood City building permits actually issued for the first six months of 1939 totalled only $581,852, that figures does not reflect the true amount of building that was going on in the city during that time.

Because of extensive building by the city, on its new library, city hall and port development, for which permits were not necessary and hence not included in the six months' total, the total valuation of buildings constructed during the period hit a high of $1,003,192, a checkup disclosed.

Although the permit for the construction of the courthouse annex was issued last year, most of the work took place this year. That permit, for $235,000, also is not included in the technically correct figure of slightly more than half a million.

Broken down into types of construction the $1,003,192 figure consists of the following: Homes (101 permits), $350,146; commercial buildings (7 permits), $125,630; public buildings 6 permits), $483,190, and repairs and alterations, $44,226.

Addition of permits issued through July and the first week of August brought the Redwood City total to $685,488 this weekend, almost double last year's total at this date of $361,745.

Many Kiddies Fed by State

More than 123,000 children are growing up on relief in California—

Forty per cent of this number are children 14 years of age or younger—

These were facts cited here by Mrs. Nina Jackson, SRA Director for San Mateo County, from figures release dfrom Administrator H. Dewey Anderson's office, where a survey of the relief population of California has been completed. The total number on SRA is 40 per cent higher now than it was a year ago at this time.

One out of every 10 persons receiving SRA assistance is of high school age, the report said—32,000 boys and girls altogether.

Another striking figure revealed in the report is that 22,000 young men and women between the ages of 20 and 24 are receiving state relief. They are unemployed in their most promising years, and to get on relief had to prove absolute destitution.

Of all heads of families receiving relief, the report said, 99.7 per cent are either native born or came to this country prior to 1930.

The following are figures of particular interest to San Mateo County: On August 7 there were 196 cases and a total of 669 individuals receiving aid from the State Relief Administration; 65 or 10 per cent were of pre-school age; 183 or 27 per cent were of grammar or junior high school age; 65 or 10 per cent were of high school age; 39 or 5 per cent were between the ages of 18 and 23; 317 or 47 per cent were over 24 years of age.

The number of applications and cases receiving relief have decreased since June 29, when there were 250 cases. An appreciable increase is expected during the next six weeks, as WPA will release approximately 207 workers who have been assigned to projects for 18 months or more. Such individuals may reapply for direct relief and recertification to WPA after they have demonstrated their inability to locate private employment. If eligibility requirements are met, the employable heads of these families may be placed on SRA projects sponsored by the San Mateo County Unemployment Relief Committee until such time as they can be reassigned to WPA.

Athletes, Campers Guests of Exchange

Three champions of the recently-held Junior Olympics and two boys who were at the YMCA's Summer camp at Jones' Gulch were honored guests of the Redwood City Exchange Club Tuesday night. Telling something of camp life were Charles McClure, 11, and George Mulcady. Chairman of the meeting, held at Cafe de Paris, was John C. Beard.

Chicken Ranches Raided by Dogs

WOODSIDE, Aug. 8 — Chicken thieves in the form of two dogs who recently have killed 158 chickens on two Woodside ranches were being sought today by F. J. Wyman of Portola, San Mateo County poundman.

Mrs. Mary Byrne of Canada Rd., where 111 chickens were destroyed in one night, caught a glimpse of a black Scottie dog and a white Spitz when she rushed to the chicken pens after hearing a commotion early in the morning. The dogs left through a hole they had torn in the fence.

At the home of Mrs. Eliza Silva on Miramonte Rd., 47 chickens were killed, apparently by the same dogs.

Wyman said that pets of a resident here were suspected but that owners of the chickens had not identified the dogs as yet.

Comprehensive Traffic Study Set

Elevated Road Is Considered

A comprehensive investigation of possible methods by which San Francisco-Peninsula traffic problems may be solved was promised today in San Francisco by Supervisor John M. Ratto, chairman of the San Francisco board's streets committee. Request of the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce for a joint program to speed up interurban traffic will be referred to the committee Monday for consideration.

The Burlingame organization suggested consideration be given to an elevated vehicular highway into San Francisco from the south, synchronization of traffic lights on 10th St., and removal of the Southern Pacific's depot at Third and Townsend Sts. to a downtown site.

Ratto said it was his intention to reopen the studies made prior to opening the bay bridge when the committee conferred with state highway officials and representatives of the Peninsula.

VISIT COLMA FORESTERS

Several members of Court Madrone 158, Foresters of America, visited at Court Colma Tuesday night. Going from Redwood City were George L. Solari, grand recording secretary; John W. Crane, Joseph T. Clarkin and George W. Clarkson. Also in attendance was Grand Senior Beadle Ivan Gamberg of San Francisco.

STOP, LOOK, LISTEN, Pleads Traffic Commission

STOP! LOOK! & LISTEN!: You have seen that familiar warning hundreds of times. BUT last year alone 3000 people in the United States who saw that warning ignored it and lost their gamble with death and injury, according to the files of the National Safety Council. It takes so little time to BE SURE the path is clear, and the effects of an accident are so tragic and so permanent . . . won't you make it your business to STOP, LOOK and LISTEN whenever you approach a railroad crossing?

In San Mateo County there has been one grade crossing fatality this year—at Broadway crossing, Beresford. Last year there were three—one at Millbrae, one at Linden Ave., South San Francisco, and one at Dumbarton Ave., Atherton.

Cement Plant Trial Slated

SAN JOSE, Aug. 10. — Judge Maxwell McNutt of Redwood City, sitting in superior court here yesterday, set Sept. 12 as the date for trial of the injunction suit brought by 290 Los Altos residents against the Permanente Cement Corp.

L. D. Bohnett, attorney for the home owners who seek to enjoin the corporation from building a cement mill in the Los Altos hills, asked 60 days to prepare his case. Louis Oneal, attorney for the corporation, demanded immediate trial. Judge McNutt "split the difference."

Testimony of one witness, Prof. Robert E. Swain of Stanford University, was taken to allow him to go on vacation during the trial.

Dr. Swain said it was his opinion that the Cottrell precipitator which the plant proposes to install may reasonably be expected to carry away 99.6 per cent of cement dust and 95 per cent of the fumes. He estimated 2.2 tons of dust daily would be thrown off if one barrel of cement produces 10 pounds of dust and the plant operates at a capacity of 7000 barrells daily. Under cross examination he said his opinions were based on manufacturers' estimates and plant plans rather than on any cement mill in operation.

Oneal said long delay in the trial would be ruinous because the company is spending $1000 daily on construction. Bohnett countered that he intends to check every modern cement plant in the country for fume, dust, and noise nuisances.

Nearly half the accidents in Texas during a five-month survey occurred on Saturday and Sunday. Less than 24 per cent of the traffic moved on those days.

Shark, Whale, Fish Stories Get Bigger

In the echo of big fish stories from the San Mateo County Coastside, where giant sharks and a 70-ton whale have been caught in recent weeks, came the report from Newark today that Tony Cadeira and Tom Fowler caught a seven-foot shark in the Newark marshlands off Dumbarton Bridge last week-end. It was said to be the largest shark ever caught in the South Bay region.

The 70-ton, 70-foot whale was taken off the Coastside yesterday by the whaling ship Point Saunders of the San Francisco Sea Products. It was the largest ever harpooned off California.

Private Plane Catches Fire After Falling

Sherwood Johnston, 37, Hillsborough millionaire, was killed Sunday night when his private airplane crashed and burst into flames near Mazatlan, Mexico.

Johnston, who visited his family at 2119 Forest View Rd., Hillsborough, three weeks ago, was in Mexico attending to his extensive business interests there. It was reported that Mexican authorities were investigating the crash of his plane, which was viewed by a group of soldiers camped near the spot where it landed. They recovered his body from the wreckage.

Johnson, owner of the expropriated United Sugar Co. of Los Mochis, was indicted in 1938 in a $10,000,000 liquor smuggling plot, but was exonerated after paying $34,804 taxes on the alcohol.

The capitalist was born in Chicago but had lived in Hillsborough since 1931. He divided his time between here and his Mexican property. He was president of the 42-year-old sugar company at Los Mochis, which was founded by his father.

Last year he was informed that the vast property had been taken over by Mexico.

Johnston is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gwendolyn Johnston, a son, Sherwood Jr., and a daughter, Constance, all residing in Hillsborough; and his mother, Mrs. B. F. Johnston of Rye, N. Y.

SCOUT TRAINING IS PUT TO TEST WHEN HEAD OF TROOP BREAKS LEG

In his capacity as scoutmaster for Troop 159 at Woodside, Leland E. John, one of that community's best known residents, had told his Boy Scouts many, many times just how to act in an emergency, and, more specifically, just what to do for a man who had broken a leg—how to make splints out of the nearest available material, how to improvise a stretcher to carry the victim to an automobile, and other first aid knowledge.

Sunday the 41-year-old clerk for Neuman Brothers store had occasion to direct a half dozen scouts, one of them his own son, in giving first aid to the victim of a broken leg who was—himself. With his son, Leland Jr., 17, and two other members of Troop 159, Percy Jarvis and John Dedo, John had set out from his cabin on Woodruff Creek near La Honda in the hopes of bagging a deer.

About a mile from the cabin he climbed up on to a log to see if he could spot a deer. Seeing none, he jumped down, a distance of about four feet, onto a pile of leaf mold. The mold slipped; so did John. He felt a sharp pain and when he went to arise, realized he had broken his left leg—just below the knee at the top of his hiking boots.

The three scouts enlisted the aid of three other youths who were nearby in helping to prepare the injured man for a wearisome trip back to the cabin. The trio who came to the rescue were also Boy Scouts, it developed—Melvin Harrison and Carter and Gilbert Quinley, all of Palo Alto.

While Scoutmaster John helped by giving directions when needed, the sextet of Scouts quickly rounded up some branches, made a splint and bound up the leg. Then, gathering more branches, and using their own shirts and underwear, they fashioned a stretcher by which they slowly carried the injured man the mile back to his cabin.

Driven to his home at Woodside by his son, John was taken on to Community Hospital, San Mateo, in his own machine by Fire Chief John Volpiano after a doctor had examined the injured man and recommended that the crude yet satisfactory splints affixed by the scouts be left as they were until he reached the hospital. There he was reported today as recovering as well as could be expected.

John, long-time resident of Woodside, is a captain in the Woodside Fire Department, serving as a volunteer. He also is active in the Native Sons of the Golden West Lodge at Palo Alto, being a past president of that organilation. Besides his son, he has two other children, both girls.

Regulation Of Signs Urged

Regulation of billboards on county highways will be urged on the county supervisors by the San Mateo County Press Association, members decided Monday night in adopting a resolution to that effect at its monthly meeting held at Pete & Mary's Grill in Redwood City.

The supervisors will be asked to pass an ordinance regulating the signboards. Copies of the resolution are to be sent to all chambers of commerce, San Francisco Peninsula Inc., and other civic organizations with a request for support in the move.

Present at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Harris, Menlo Park Recorder; Lester Lafferty, San Carlos Enquirer; Mr. and Mrs. George Dunn, Half Moon Bay Review, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brubaker, San Mateo Times; Mr. and Mrs. George McQueen, Burlingame Advance; Mr. and Mrs. Logan Franklin, South San Francisco Enterprise; Mr. and Mrs. Al Boyton, Daly City Record; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McCue, Redwood City Standard, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Winklebleck, Redwood City Tribune.

McCue and Winklebleck were joint hosts. Vice President Franklin presided, Pres. Harry Butler being on vacation.

Bulk Sales Notices Must Be Published

Greater protection to creditors is given in a bill just signed by Governor Olson requiring the publication of a notice when bulk sales, transfers or assignments of a stock in trade are made which are not in the regular course of business.

The law also requires publication of such a notice in the event of the sale, transfer, assignment or mortgage of the fixtures or store equipment of a baker, cafe or restaurant owner, garage owner, machinist, cleaner and dyer, or retail or wholesale merchant. Penalty for failure to record or publish is presumption that the transfer of ownership is intentionally fraudulent.

Effect of the law, an amendment to Section 3440, Civil Code, is to require one publication of the notice now required to be recorded concerning such sales. Publication shall be completed not less than two days before the date of the intended sale, transfer, assignment or mortgage and must be published within the township in which the sale takes place. The law is similar to one in Arizona where such notices of sale must be published once a week for three weeks in a weekly newspaper or for 10 days in a daily.

Since the legislature adjourned June 20, the law will become effective on Sept. 19, 90 days after adjournment.

Two suicides, one by a young mother who "just wanted to die" and the other by a middle-aged man who had "no friends and no money," were recorded here by Coroner William F. Crosby.

Mrs. Guadlupe M. Aldana, 25, of 116 Pine St., Redwood City, died in Community Hospital Tuesday of effects of swallowing ant poison at her home. Her two-week-old baby daughter, born at the hospital, was returned there for care.

New City Law Is Approved

MENLO PARK, Aug. 9—Designed to be fool-proof, fire-proof, and resistant to legal attacks, Menlo Park's billboard ordinance as amended after a series of dramatic appeals was introduced last night.

Harry J. Lusk, commissioner of streets and rabid partisan of billboard elimination, heaved a huge sigh, wiped his brow and moved the introduction of the amended ordinance.

"This is the end of the three years of work," he told his fellow-councilmen.

However, the second on his motion was not immediately forthcoming.

"This ordinance may tangle us up. Is it reasonable?" inquired Capt. Hugo May.

"I think it is," replied City Atty. James T. O'Keefe Jr. "I believe it will stand up under any legal action."

STRICT REQUIREMENTS

After prolonged discussion of the various provisions a second to the introduction of the new ordinance was offered by Councilman Frank Beeton.

Basing its effectiveness on three primary sections, the amended billboard ordinance deals in its revamped form principally with new setback provisions, rigid construction requirements, and increased license fees.

For an idea of what the billboard operator will be required to use in construction of billboards when the new ordinance goes into effect, here are some of the materials mentioned in the section covering this item:

UNANIMOUS VOTE

Steel, galvanized iron, concrete, angle iron, struts, braces, fire-resistant materials. Billboards will have to be sunk a specified distance underground and foundations reinforced by concrete. They must be constructed to resist 30 pounds-per-square-foot of wind pressure.

The customary section providing that should any portion of the amended ordinance be proved unconstitutional, it will not affect the remaining provisions also was included in the unanimous action taken by the council in a roll-call vote.

The only portions of the city which will not be affected by the new ordinance are where buildings have been moved back to the proposed new setback line fixed by the state highway commission in preparation for widening of El Camino Real.

STREET REPAIR ORDERED

The council also took decisive action on improvement to a street of major importance. Unanimously, it adopted a motion by Commissioner Lusk for the expenditures of $6075 from gasoline tax funds held in reserve to grade Middle Ave., pave a 20-foot strip, establish satisfactory drainage.

A new ordinance for subdivisions was suggested to the council with specific provisions for the acceptance by the city of any streets within such improved area.

At the request of the Citizens Committee, formed to take action on obtaining government projects for improvement of streets in Menlo Park, the council allotted them a map of the city to block out the various districts where petitions will be circulated.

The council arched a collective eyebrow when the point was raised that the compromise committee selected to settle a Paraiso Park rezoning dispute had not appealed to councilmen on the committee to join in any discussion, and had not appeared before the board, although last night was the time set for their appearance. The rezoning argument was put over.

PROPOSED CITY BUDGET IS PASSED UNCHANGED

Adopted without comment by the city council Monday night and without change from the estimates disclosed a week ago, Redwood City's budget for the 1939-40 fiscal year calls for expenditures of $240,383.85, and a tax rate of $1.305 for the old town, $1.303 for the annexed territory, $1.185 for the South Redwood and Carmelita Manor districts, and $0.983 for the port area. Increase over last year is 12 cents per $100 valuation.

Although the budget actually is not much more than that adopted a year ago—$237,993.85 — expenditures during the past year actually were $250,948.74, City Manager C. L. Dimmitt pointed out in a statement submitted to the council with the proposed budget. Total amount to be raised by taxation is $177,837.06, as compared with $156,140.63 for 1938-39—an increase of $21,696.43. Last year on July 1 there was $24,029.47 on hand; this year, there was a deficit of $2157.61.

OTHER REVENUE DOWN

The amount of revenue derived from other than tax collections last year was $67,993.03, as compared to an anticipated total of such revenue for the ensuing year of $64,704.40, the decrease being principally in the items of tax and bond penalties, interest from money on deposit, interest from bonds, and building, plumbing and electrical fees, Dimmitt said.

Increase in the tax rate comes mainly from capital outlays during the past year which must be partially paid—city hall, library, port facilities, sewers.

Besides the expenditures in the general city budget, the city will spend the following amounts for other departments, the funds not being required from taxation: Port of Redwood City and Yacht Harbor, $29,360; water department (operating expenditures), $96,179.40; water department (capital expenditures), $18,700; water department (Emerald Lake District operating), $14,515; water department (Emerald Lake District capital expenditures), $4600.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Copies of the budget have been completed and may be viewed at the city hall.

Mail Delivery Plea Rejected

SAN CARLOS, Aug. 10.—Until San Carlos grows a little more, it can have no delivery from the local post office.

Such in effect was the message from First Asst. Postmaster Gen. W. W. Howes posted in the office here today.

The notice disclosed that the recent survey conducted by the department showed that there were 1888 persons living in the territory approved for delivery—but a minimum of 2500 persons is necessary. Thus, until 612 more persons move into that area, "the department is not warranted in establishing delivery service," Howes reported.

HISTORIC WOODSIDE STORE BECOMES CHURCH'S PROPERTY

Preservation Planned of 'Old Doc' Tripp's Famous Early-Day Landmark

The historic Woodside Store, first post office and country store between San Francisco and Santa Clara, has become the property of the Woodside Congregational Church, and, according to John D. Gish, chairman of the board of trustees, the landmark will be preserved.

Transfer of title was made after the four beneficiaries of the Addie Tripp Estate agreed on a division of the property. The church secured title to the historic store and to 2.196 acres of land across the Kings Mountain Rd.

The remainder of the property, including the Tripp home and some 15 acres of land, will be divided between Gerald C. Halsey; Mrs. Mary F. Halsey, his mother, and Felix Cazahoux, long time employe and friend of the Tripp family.

Mr. Gish explained that Dr. R. O. Tripp deeded all his property to his daughter, Addie, in 1900. When she died several years ago she left a life estate to a cousin, Miss Emma Lock of Massachusetts. Miss Lock died about a year and a half ago, and according to the terms of the Addie Tripp will, the estate was left in undivided interests as follows: One-third to the church; two-ninths to Halsey, and attorney and close friend of the family; two-ninths to Mrs. Halsey and two-ninths to Cazahoux.

Mr. Gish explained that the 2.196-acre parcel is erroneously referred to as the "burial grounds." Only bodies ever buried there were those of Mrs. Tripp and their infant child, Mr. Gish said. Mrs. Tripp died in 1888.

The store, sought at various times as a museum, branch library, and youth hostel, was constructed in 1854 by Dr. Tripp, who operated it until two months before his death at the age of 94 in 1910, according to Mr. Gish.

While there are no legal restric- Mr. Gish explained that it was the wish of the church board to preserve the store as either a museum or branch library.

"This building is not the original Tripp store," he said. "Dr. Tripp arrived in Woodside in October of '49, and built a two-room log cabin on the property now across the street from the present store building. It wasn't until the Fall of 1850 that he started merchandising, and not until '54 that the business grew so that he built the present store building."

Mr. Gish said he came to Woodside in 1906 and recalled trading with Dr. Tripp, now sometimes referred to as "Old Doc" Tripp.

According to Stanger's "History of San Mateo County," Dr. Tripp as a young San Francisco dentist came to Woodside for his health after finding the San Francisco climate unsuitable. In 1850 he started a lumbering business, shipping logs to San Francisco from the "Embarcadero" on Redwood Slough. He lived to see the town of Woodside which he named and in fact founded, become a thriving community, and his "Embarcadero" become a city and the county seat.

The Woodside Store is designated by the state as an historical landmark. The La Honda "bandit built store" was similarly designated last week.

Mr. Gish said that its ultimate disposition will be a matter for the congregation of the church to decide, but he said it was certain the landmark would be preserved. Other members of the church board are Miss Mary Huddard and Mrs. Priscilla Jarvis.

Union Head Answers Manager of Factory

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10—Quiet prevailed today in the strike of employes at Swift and Co 's meat-packing plant at South San Francisco with no negotiations in sight.

Following issuance yesterday by Mgr. H. P. Jones of a statement that Milton Maxwell, president of the Western Federation of Butchers, had called the strike without notice and had made no attempt to negotiate, Maxwell made a counter statement.

He said the union "has been ignored by Mr. Jones" and that in negotiations previous to the strike he had been forced to deal with Plant Superintendent Thorne.

Outstanding Display Due

The sportsmen's show and wild life exhibit planned for the San Mateo County Fiesta at Bay Meadows next month is expected to be one of the finest ever seen on the Pacific Coast, according to Richard Fischer, president, and G. W. Philpott, secretary, of the Consolidated Sportsmen's Club of the Peninsula. Philpott is author of the column "Fins, Fur & Feathers" appearing in this newspaper.

The clubs making up the Peninsula group are working on the unusual sports program. Included are the rod and gun clubs of Daly City, San Bruno, San Mateo, Palo Alto, San Jose and the Coastside, and the sportsmen's clubs of Belmont-San Carlos, Redwood City and Los Gatos.

Against a picturesque and educational background of conservation displays, the sportsmen will stage a flycasting contest, archery tournament, skeet shooting, and drills by the colorfully-uniformed troops of the Junior Game Patrol.

George Zehender of Redwood City, known to sportsmen throughout the state and recently nominated to the board of the Associate Sportsmen of California, is in charge of the fly, plug and bait-casting events.

Fischer is handling the wild life exhibit and has secured the co-operation both of governmental and private agencies in constructing displays which will show live fish and game in their natural habitat. Both ordinary and unusual kinds of game will walk and fly in settings familiar to them.

To act as guides at the wild life exhibit, some 75 members of the Junior Game Patrol have been secured by Philpott. This organization of boys and girls between 18 and 21 years of age is sponsored by the California Division of Fish and Game, with various rod and gun clubs acting as co-sponsors The drill work for which it has become known will be a feature of the sportsmen's show.

Local Realty Men Oppose S. F. Plea

San Francisco's attempt to secure control of its own harbor, now held by the state, should be no more successful than Redwood City's attempt to secure the bay city chamber of commerce support for the Port of Redwood City's terminal rate plea, the Redwood City District Real Estate Board believes.

This was reported here by Daniel R. Stafford, committee chairman for the board.

"Greatly to our surprise," a resolution of the realty board read, "San Francisco Chamber of Commerce denied our request" for support in Redwood City's effort to obtain terminal rates for the Port of Redwood City.

As a result, San Francisco's attempts "to have the administration of the San Francisco Harbor returned to San Francisco from the State of California" should be defeated, the realtors believe, and will urge Assemblyman Harrison W. Call and Sen. Harry Parkman, San Mateo County's representatives in the legislature, to oppose San Francisco's plea.

AIRPORT BONDS ARE SOLD

San Francisco on Monday sold a block of $300,000 worth of municipal airport bonds to continue work at the city's airport in San Mateo County. Average interest rate was 1.689 per cent, which officials said reflected the city's sound financial rating. Net interest cost on the 10-year bonds will be $17,050.
